

TENXEX

Exchange Corp.

ABOUT US

TenXEX Exchange Corp. is a technology-driven digital asset platform focused on providing users with a simple, secure, and transparent way to access cryptocurrency markets.

TenXEX operates through modern exchange technology and established third-party digital asset infrastructure. As part of our technology model, TenXEX utilizes Binance's API and related infrastructure, enabling the platform to access certain market, trading, liquidity, and other services provided through Binance's technology ecosystem, subject to the applicable agreements and service arrangements.

Binance is one of the world's largest and most recognised cryptocurrency exchanges and digital asset infrastructure providers. By leveraging established third-party technology rather than building every component of an exchange independently, TenXEX is able to focus on delivering a streamlined user experience, platform functionality, customer service, and transparent presentation of its services.

Our Technology Relationship

TenXEX's technology model is designed to benefit from established cryptocurrency exchange infrastructure while maintaining its own platform identity and user interface.

Where Binance technology or services are used, TenXEX does not represent itself as Binance, nor does the TenXEX brand imply that TenXEX is owned or operated by Binance unless expressly stated in a separate agreement.

The specific services available to TenXEX users may depend on the applicable technology, API, liquidity, compliance, and service arrangements in place at any given time.

Our Principles

Security	We place security and responsible handling of user information at the centre of our platform design.
Transparency	We aim to provide clear information regarding our services, fees, technology providers, and the risks associated with digital assets.
Reliability	By utilizing established technology infrastructure, we aim to provide a stable and efficient trading experience.
User Experience	TenXEX is designed to simplify access to digital asset markets through an intuitive platform and straightforward functionality.

Responsible Access Cryptocurrency markets involve substantial risk and price volatility.
TenXEX does not promise or guarantee investment returns.

Our Vision

Our vision is to build TenXEX into a trusted digital asset platform by combining an independent user experience with proven industry technology and infrastructure.

We believe the future of digital assets will be built around accessibility, transparency, technology, and responsible innovation.
